Mother's Day Surprise

Kenneth woke up a few minutes before his alarm. He quietly turned it off and tiptoed to his sister's room. He gently shook her awake, saying, "Come on, Aleisha. It's time to get the surprise ready!"

Kenneth led her to the kitchen. He moved a chair in front of the fridge so he could reach Grandma's favorite cereal while his sister placed a cup and bowl on the tray. Then, while he put cereal into the bowl, she filled the cup with juice. After pouring some milk over the cereal, they stood back and smiled.

"Oh, wait!" Aleisha cried. "I almost forgot!" She searched in her backpack and found the Mother's Day card she had made at school.

Kenneth grinned as she put it on the tray. "Perfect!" he nodded. Picking up the tray, he and his sister walked very carefully so that he wouldn't spill anything on the way to Grandma's bedroom. Aleisha knocked softly.

"Happy Mother's Day, Grandma!" Kenneth and Aleisha called.

Grandma stirred, her eyes widening in surprise. "For me?"

The kids giggled and hugged her. "Of course! We love you, Grandma!"
