

Play on the Train

I would like to try and explain
what happened yesterday
while on the train.

Two boys were playing
a game of cards,
when one started to complain
and wailed very hard.

I heard his friend say,
“Pay attention to me.
Your turn is next.
Just wait and you’ll see!”

Soon the boy understood,
it was plain as day.
He exclaimed he was sorry,
and they continued to play.
